Why study Music abroad?

To compete in an ever-globalizing, competitive job market, no college education is complete without the skills and experiences that studying abroad can offer. International education and experiences bring academic variety and challenges, personal growth, and professional and networking opportunities to the table.

"Studying abroad is a crucial part of studying music. Traveling is an essential part of one's career, and having this chance to get to know the world outside of the US has greatly prepared me for the path ahead. During my time in Vienna, Austria, I met people who had the same career goals as me, discovered many things about myself as a person and an artist, learned about other cultures outside of Vienna, and was exposed to world-class music on a daily basis. I still insist that my favorite part of studying abroad was getting to cheaply see so many operas at the Vienna State Opera House! Studying abroad kicked off a new chapter of my life, and it changed me for the better."
